DIY Comms And Control For Amateur Space: Talking And Listening To Your Satellite

Synopsis

Radio spectrum for commanding and recording from our satellites is a shared resource with subtle hurdles. We walk the path originally paved by AMSATs to discuss the steps and licensing needed to set up and operate both a command uplink and a data download station and network. Find out how playing nicely with others maximizes your ability to get your data down.

Customer Reviews

Great

This book does a good job of introducing the basics of communication to those new CubeSat and electronics. It includes info on both the hardware and the processes that are specific to successfully operating a spacecraft.

excellent

I ordered this book out of curiosity. I found the book interesting, but have no desire to be involved in Amateur Space things.
