"Frank Schmalleger, Ph.D.," is Professor Emeritus at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke, where he chaired the Department of Sociology, Social Work, and Criminal Justice for nearly 20 years. He currently serves as director of the Justice Research Association, a private consulting firm and think tank focusing on issues of crime and justice. Dr. Schmalleger is also founder and codirector of the Criminal Justice Distance Learning Consortium (<http://cjcentral.com/cjdlc>). Dr. Schmalleger holds degrees from the University of Notre Dame and Ohio State University, having earned both a master's degree (1970) and a doctorate in sociology (1974) from Ohio State University with a special emphasis in criminology. He served as an adjunct professor at Webster University in St. Louis, Missouri, where he helped develop the university's graduate program in Security Administration and Loss Prevention. He taught courses in that curriculum for more than a decade. Schmallegger also taught in the New School for Social Research's online graduate program, helping build the world's first electronic classrooms in support of distance learning through computer telecommunications. An avid Web developer, Schmallegger is the creator of a number of award-winning websites, including some that support this textbook (<http://www.prenhall.com/schmallegger>; <http://cjtoday.com>, and <http://cybrary.info>). Frank Schmallegger is the author of numerous articles and many books, including the widely used "Criminology Today" (Prentice Hall, 2002); "Criminal Justice: A Brief Introduction" (Prentice Hall, 2002); "Criminal Law Today" (Prentice Hall, 2002); "The Definitive Guide to Criminal Justice and Criminology on the World Wide Web" (Prentice Hall, 2002); "Corrections in the Twenty first Century" (Glencoe, 2001), coauthored with John Smykla; "Crime and the Justice System in America: An Encyclopedia" (Greenwood, 1997); and "Trial of the Century: People of the State of California vs. Orenthal James Simpson" (Prentice Hall, 1996). Schmallegger is the founding editor of the journal "The Justice Professional." He has served as editor for the Prentice Hall series "Criminal Justice in the Twenty-First Century" and as imprint adviser for Greenwood Publishing Group's criminal justice reference series. Schmallegger's philosophy of both teaching and writing can be summed up in these words: "To communicate knowledge we must first catch, then hold, a person's interest--be it student, colleague, or policymaker. Our writing, our speaking, and our teaching must be relevant to the problems facing people today, and they must--in some way--help solve those problems."

While I realize that this book is used and that was clearly stated. With it being in "good" condition however, that is what I expected. With this I expected there to be minor corner damage as well as some writing/highlighting throughout the book. But there is significant corner damage- way worse than anticipated. There is also severe water damage in the front of the book. While the book is useable, and saved me money, I just wish the status of the book was more clearly stated.

Grand son needed this for his class, great find and helped him with his first test a little worn like we were warned but it is worth the rental fee to be able to use for the semester I am glad that you have such a service for students. Thank You great book!

It came in a really bad condition. All the pages are there but, the cover and back are almost detached, as well as massively curled pages.

Best

This was exactly the textbook I needed for my Administration of Justice course. The chapters are well-written and make difficult concepts easy to understand. Great for learning the basics of criminal justice.

For some reason I received the instructor edition and it also states on the cover NOT FOR RESALE . -_- So I don't know if I should even try to resell it and explain the whole scenario . Other than that good book and just what I needed

The cover of the book was in poor condition besides this the pages were fine.
