Customer Reviews

Sterling Everett studied art under Ezra Sellers at Young Harris College and graduated with a BBA in Art from Georgia College. Skillfully working in pen and ink, watercolors, and oils, Everett has captured his passion for history and classical architecture in exquisitely detailed and extraordinarily expressive artwork that graces distinguished private collections and corporate offices worldwide. A native of Sandersville, Georgia, Everett currently resides in Macon.

I grew up playing with the artist's older brothers in rural Georgia. Sterling's artistry is truly magnificent! He has captured images of everyday life and historic architecture in Georgia in a vivid and stylized way that brings it to life. Other prominent water color artists such as Wyatt Waters of Mississippi revere Sterling Everett's work as a contemporary standard bearer of the medium. His later works on historic Georgia architecture, much of which highlights his hometown of Tennille, GA and Macon GA where he now lives, can be viewed on Facebook. It's with great pride that I now admire the work and recognition by past Presidents of my childhood friend, Sterling Everett. Owners of thus book of postcards will not be disappointed!
